

ActiveEon joins EDEN, European Defense Economic Network

01/03/2013

Five SMEs from Southern-France PACA region (ActiveEon, Novadem, Opera Ergonomie, IRTS and Sofresud) have created in January the EDEN (European Defense Economic Network) PACA cluster, under the patronage of the Direction Generale de l'Armement (National Weaponry Direction) with the support of the chambers of commerce and industry. The PACA cluster will be the 4th regional cluster of the European Defense Economic Network (EDEN), meant to increase cooperation among innovating SMEs in the defense industry.

About ActiveEon

Founded in 2007, and based in the Techno Park Sophia Antipolis, France, the company ActiveEon originated from the OASIS research project conducted in partnership with the INRIA Institute, the CNRS and the University of Nice Sophia Antipolis. ActiveEon co-develops the open source middleware ProActive Parallel Suite® in collaboration with OASIS, and consequently benefits of more than 10 years of R&D experience. ProActive Parallel Suite's impressive capabilities are due to ActiveEon's continuing investment in product development and research via INRIA guided by interactions with our commercial and academic users. Using the experience gained in bringing ProActive to market, ActiveEon developed and implemented new methods for solving difficult parallelism problems and then delivered these to our customers. Numerous synergies between ActiveEon's R&D team and the IT industry, along with the recognition of ActiveEon's expertise by the largest IT vendors such as HP, Microsoft, Oracle, initiated a series of business partnerships with a significant number of corporations from multiple industries
